

Nautal reinforces its position in the luxury yacht sector with the acquisition of the UK based boat charter agency, Incrediblue

The British charter agency, Incrediblue, will maintain its name and become the brand name of Nautal's luxury yacht sector, which currently accounts for 10% of its business volume.

Through acquiring Incrediblue, Nautal will be expanding its online platform for boat rental with a new line of business specializing in luxury yacht charters.

This reinforces the positioning of Nautal in the Mediterranean, the Balearic Islands, Corsica, Sardinia, Croatia and especially Greece, where Incrediblue was born.

17 January, 2018 - As Spain's leading boat agency platform, the ever-growing custom of traveling via boat rental, coupled with the increasing demand for more exclusive and luxurious vessels, form the basis for Nautal's major business decision in acquiring British operator Incrediblue.

This is the first business acquisition of a competing brand for Nautal. Incrediblue, based in London, was the first startup pioneer of the European charter sector and a prestigious brand for boat owners and clients in the East Mediterranean, primarily in Greece, Croatia and Turkey.

According to Octavi Uyà, CEO at Nautal, "This business move represents a very important quantitative and qualitative leap for our platform, which will allow us to reinforce the range of luxury yachts and superyachts that we have on offer in the Mediterranean (mainly in the Balearics, Corsica, Sardinia, Croatia, Greece and Turkey) as well as in Miami, the Bahamas and the Caribbean. It is an initiative with which we also want to acknowledge our clients, who demand increasingly for this type of luxury boats. In the last year, approximately 10% of our charter transactions were VIP yacht charters, with rentals ranging from 50,000 to 500,000 euros."

Incrediblue will become the new face of Nautal's luxury charter sector, but with its own identity. After restyling its logo and updating its website www.incrediblue.com, this new division will incorporate both operators' most exclusive yachts.

"In this way, boat owners and current yachts and megayachts listed by Incrediblue will remain on this platform, along with the yachts that we currently have at nautal.com. Meanwhile, other boat types at Incrediblue will also be transferred to Nautal, allowing boat owners to achieve a larger reservation volume thanks to a greater web presence," reassures Octavi Uyà.

For Antonio Fiorakis, CEO of Incrediblue, who will now form part of the Advisory Board at Nautal, "the incorporation of Incrediblue with Nautal, with whom we share the same vision of promoting the use and enjoyment of yachts and its accessibility to more users every day, will allow us to create a very solid global leader in the nautical charter market. Although, a large majority of yacht charter reservations are still made offline, everything points to the fact that in the next five years, this trend will change exponentially towards online consumption, and I am confident that Nautal and Incrediblue will be a leader together in this consumer market."

In this transition, the renovated Incrediblue site will be published in seven languages (Spanish, English, French, German, Italian, Dutch and Greek). Whereas, Nautal will develop the Greek version of its site www.nautal.gr (currently in Spanish, English, French, Italian, German and Dutch) with the aim of strengthening its presence in the Greek market, as it now has Incrediblue's Greek founders' expertise to give their clients the best nautical experience in Greece.
